

PHILIPP SCHULTE- NOELLE

GROUP CEO

Philipp Schulte-Noelle was appointed MEDIAN Group CEO, having held the role of Group COO since September 2023. Between January and July 2024, he also held the role of interim Chief Financial Officer, guiding MEDIAN Group through a significant refinancing process.

In his role as MEDIAN Group CEO, Philipp leads a core management team consisting of the Group CFO and the CEOs of MEDIAN Group's subsidiaries including: Priory, MEDIAN in Germany and Hestia in Spain. He is also responsible for key corporate Group functions including: digital solutions, research, medical quality and innovation, group services, and marketing and communications.

Prior to joining MEDIAN Group, Philipp was CEO and, previously, chief financial officer (CFO) of medical technology manufacturer, Ottobock, between 2018 and 2022. He held various positions at global healthcare group, Fresenius, including senior vice president, head of corporate business development/mergers and acquisitions, and CFO of Fresenius Kabi (a division providing healthcare products for critically and chronically ill patients). Most recently, he advised start-ups and was active as an investor in the digital health sector.

Passionate about tech-enabled growth and people, Philipp has extensive knowledge of the healthcare sector, MedTech, organisational transformation, mergers and acquisitions, capital market readiness and environmental, social and governance (ESG). He previously lived and worked in the UK, as well as in Germany.